Beretta develops a modular and scalable military clothing system designed to enhance the operational effectiveness of the modern soldier across all mission profiles. By integrating advanced materials from leading manufacturers such as Gore®, Milliken®, and Primaloft®, the system delivers protection, comfort, and mobility in diverse and demanding environments.

Designed in Gardone Val Trompia and certified to the highest international quality and sustainability standards, the Beretta Military Clothing System is developed in close cooperation with end users and fully compliant with NATO requirements.

Beretta is part of the Sistema Soldato Sicuro consortium, supplying the Italian Army program with more than 1.5 million garments delivered, demonstrating proven industrial capacity, scalability, and reliability.
In parallel, the company is actively engaged in G2G (government-to-government) contracts across Europe.
